

GIANT FOODSTORE, CAMP HILL, PENNSYLVANIA, USA

"Giant Food Store" as with most supermarkets has high demands for ventilation and temperature control. There was to be a new "Giant" outlet created in Camp Hill - USA and the customer had some firm ideas about what was required for the ventilation system.

Mr. Chris Harmes of Giant Food Stores, "Our concern was functionality. The system had to be designed to suit our store layout and concept as well as being easy to maintain & providing the correct technical solution."

"We found just this combination with Euro Air. The system is easy to use and nice to look at, it also has an incredibly low noise level. Additionally we like that fact that Euro Air stay close to us and listen to what we need as the user. They are always ready to help with the details."